

AG HELP WANTED

Orienting New Employees

An effective orientation pays off in employee performance, retention, and workforce harmony.

Employers should help new employees be both a productive worker and a part of the farm social group. The work environment experienced and the performance pattern an employee establishes during the first few days will have a strong influence on that person's attitude, productivity, and team spirit for weeks, months, and even years to come.

Learn more from AgHelpWanted - Staffing the Farm Business at: AgHelpWanted.org

AgHelpWanted.org