

AG HELP WANTED

Leadership and Power in Supervision

Leadership is high on the list of factors credited or blamed for operational results.

Leaders

envision opportunities for personal and organizational gain in the future and find ways of getting people to go after them. Managers allocate resources, design policies and procedures, measure outcomes, and solve problems to make operations efficient and consistent. Leaders get others “to want to do” by teaching, facilitating, coaching, and mentoring.

Learn more from AgHelpWanted - Supervising Agricultural Work at: AgHelpWanted.org

AgHelpWanted.org

